Lovett Succeeds Marshall As U. S. Defense Secretary

Regional Civil Defense Chief Quits

Colonel Smith Attacks Lack Of Leadership

Philadelphia (AP)—An Army lieutenant colonel who officially impersonated Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower during World War Two quit his State Civil Defense post yesterday because, he said, Pennsylvania has no plans and no program.

Lt. Col. Baldwin Smith quit his job as director of the 16-county eastern Pennsylvania region "as a protest against lack of leadership and support at the State level," he added.

"There is no civil defense program for Pennsylvania actually on paper."

"I am disappointed that the State failed to develop a workable plan for civil defense. I have asked for a statewide network of emergency routes from tactical areas, but nothing came of it."

"In the last six months I have had a feeling of complete frustration because of the lack of leadership and guidance at Harrisburg."

Colonel Smith took over the eastern region leadership last December 4, coming here from Chicago where he had been active in National Guard affairs for 27 years.

Because of his resemblance to General Eisenhower he served as Ike's double at various functions in Paris during World War One following reports of German threats against the Allied commander's life.

As Smith resigned, Gov. John S. Fine in a speech during dedication of the new Penrose Ave. bridge over the Schuylkill river also blasted the State's Civil Defense program.

"In the old days the pioneers offered their belongings and their lives in defense of liberty," Fine said. "Do you know what our Senators in Harrisburg will pledge for civilian defense? About 80 cents a head."

"God only knows what will happen to the wheels of industry in Pennsylvania."

Fine said he anticipated an appropriation of about $8,000,000 for civilian defense in the State, as compared with "approximately 12 1/2 million dollars which people (in Pennsylvania) have spent for stocking their medicine cabinets for ordinary accidents." He added:

"We need money for an abnormal accident caused by the dropping of an abnormal bomb."

Colonel Smith disclosed his resignation at a meeting of the Philadelphia Civil Defense council. He said he had sent notice to Dr. Richard Gerstell, State Civil Defense director at Harrisburg.

Board Answers Fish Warden

Harrisburg (AP)—The Sanitary Water board contended yesterday tests of water taking from Sterling run in Cameron county failed to show an acid condition that could be created by strip mine operations.

The board said the tests, made by use of a mobile laboratory at the scene, also proved that fish still live in the stream.

L. F. Close, Emporium fish warden, had charged that the board was lax in enforcing the clean streams law. He said 30 miles of trout streams in that area were ruined by acid mine drainage.

Poor Gas In View

Atlantic City, N. J. (AP)—American motorists soon may be limited to gasoline with "unsatisfactory performance," C. E. Davis, director of refining division, petroleum administration for Defense (PAD), predicted a drastic curtailment of tetraethyl lead for motor gasoline, unless the refining industry gets more allocated primary lead and more lead scrap.

Gambler Harry Gross, Missing Graft Trial Witness, Picked Up At New Jersey Racetrack

Atlantic City, N. J. (AP)—Kingpin gambler Harry Gross, missing star witness in New York mass police graft trial, was picked up at Atlantic City racetrack yesterday, calmly betting on the horses.

"What have I done?—I just felt like getting away for a few days, the stocky, 35-year-old bookie explained.

New York police said Gross mysteriously slipped through a police guard at his Atlantic Beach, N. Y., home Tuesday night and vanished.

A national manhunt was launched immediately for Gross whose scheduled testimony about his $20,000,000 a year police-protected gambling ring is admitted to be the key to the Empire State's graft case against 18 policemen.

Meanwhile, in New York, the Federal Bureau of Investigation announced it had taken Gross into custody in New Jersey on a charge of "interstate flight to avoid giving testimony."

New Jersey State police and track detectives spotted the dapper big time bookie as he mingled with the crowd at the racetrack clubhouse.

District Attorney Miles F. MacDonald in New York, smiling and obviously greatly relieved, confirmed Gross' arrest and went to New Jersey to pick up his star witness.

Gross told newsmen he thought police were making a big fuss over "just a bookie case."

"They'll parlay this thing into a three-ring circus," he said.

Gross is on bail, awaiting sentence as a gambler. He faces up to 65 years in prison.

He pooh-poohed reports of his disappearance and explained that he merely packed a bag and walked out the front door of the house about 6 p. m. Tuesday. Gross said he didn't know where the police were and "I didn't look for them."

He said he drove to this shore resort and checked into the Chalfonte-Haddon hall hotel at 12:15 a. m. yesterday under the name of Harry Green, went for a walk on the boardwalk, had a cup of coffee and went to bed.

Yesterday morning, Gross said he ate breakfast and later went to the racetrack at McKee City, 11 miles from here.

Gross said he had no fear of death threats police said had been made against him and his family if he testified at the graft trial. Gross is expected to tell how he paid $1,000,000 a year to crooked cops to protect his vast gambling ring.

Reds Hint Apology Not Acceptable

Tokyo, Thursday (AP)—The Communists hinted today that the formal United Nations' apology for the inadvertent strafing of Kaseong Monday would not be entirely acceptable.

Such a decision would throw another roadblock in the path of a resumption of suspended Korean truce talks.

The North Korean-Chinese high command maintained an official silence on the Allied note of regret handed them Wednesday.

However, Peiping radio, broadcasting the first Red comment on the note, said:

"At last (General) Ridgway has been forced to admit that one of his planes carried out the Monday morning strafing attack on Kaseong. But his claim that the attack was a mistake is absurd..."

The radio quoted a Communist writer at headquarters of Lt. Gen. Nam Il, senior Red armistice negotiator. While such writing was not official in the past it frequently has served as a bell-weather of official Communist opinion.

Allied headquarters also was keeping a tight silence on an envelope handed to liaison officers by the Reds Wednesday. This presumably contained the Communist rejection of a September 6 proposal by General Ridgway, supreme Allied commander.

Ridgway wanted to change the site of truce negotiations from Kaseong to another point less subject to interruptions. The Reds in a broadcast Wednesday said this was totally unacceptable and merely an attempt by the Allies to dodge responsibility for alleged violations of Kaseong's neutrality zone.

The Allies have turned down 10 of the 11 Communist protests of neutrality violations as fraudulent or unworthy of reply.

President Proud Of Daughter's Cooking Prowess

Washington (AP)—Hint to prospective suitors: Margaret Truman can cook, too.

Source of this information: Her father, the President.

"I have long ago quit talking about mama's cooking, because I have a good cook at home," Mr. Truman remarked to a delegation which presented him with a cake yesterday. He added:

"And she also has made a good cook out of the musician who is our daughter. She can cook, too. I can't say she likes to cook as well as she likes to sing, but then she is able to do it."

The cake, made from Mrs. Truman's own recipe as it appears in a United Nations cook book, was presented by a group from the National Citizens Committee for United Nations Day.

Mr. Truman issued a proclamation asking all citizens to observe the day, October 24. Then, back to the subject at hand, he said:

"I hope every young lady in the United States will learn to make cakes like this."

Interpreter's Bible Comes Off Presses

New York (AP)—Religious scholars last night unveiled the first of a 12-volume series cataloguing all that mankind has learned about the Bible from ancient times to the present.

Lt. called "The Interpreter's Bible."

Top theologians from various Protestant denominations in this country and abroad have been at work on the project for seven years. About $1,000,000 has been invested in research and assembling material.

"Unquestionably this is the most important publication in the religious field for over half a century," said Dr. Halford Luccock, a leading biblical expert, of Yale Divinity School.

Almost in encyclopedic fashion, the new work presents each verse of the Bible, along with all data concerning the verse that has been dug up through archeological excavations, new-found manuscripts and historical and geographical research.

Martin Lists Threats To U. S.

Atlantic City, N. J. (AP)—Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.) yesterday listed six reasons why he thinks the American way of life is threatened: High taxes, excessive spending, "increasing corruption," "socialistic schemes," advancing Communism and public indifference.

Martin, former governor of Pennsylvania, told the annual meeting of the American Petroleum association "excessive taxation is now taking away from the people more than 30 per cent of the total national income," he added:

"There is something wrong with our system when we contemplate taxing the illicit profits of gambling and other immoral practices in order to balance governmental budgets." (He referred to a bill now under consideration by the Senate Finance committee).

MIT Suspends Indicted Prof

Cambridge, Mass. (AP)—Prof. Dick J. Struik, 56-year-old mathematics professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, yesterday was indicted on a charge of advocating overthrow of the government of the United States and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Shortly after the Middlesex county jury handed up the indictment, Professor Struik was suspended from his post at MIT.

A similar indictment was returned against Harry E. Winner, prominent Malden businessman. They were accused of conspiring with Martha H. Fletcher of Boston and Margaret Gilbert of Cambridge.

Struik, Holland-born mathematician, has denied in the past that he was a Communist although describing himself as a "good Marxist."

Disappearance Of Children Stirs School

Portland—The consolidated school here was thrown into an uproar yesterday when a pair of pupils vanished.

They were Donnie and Ronnie Everitt, eight-year-old twins, who had been in the school yard during recess.

When the twins' absence was noted, a preliminary check was made. No results.

A few teachers joined the search—unsuccessfully.

Then the school began looking in earnest. Principal, teachers, and a bevy of the older pupils scoured the grounds, and the adults began to make the rounds of the back roads nearby.

Portland Police Chief Jesse Felker was called in.

The boys were found at their home, owned by Mr. and Mrs. William Everitt, at Mount Bethel.

The answer was simple enough: Ronnie had gotten sick. Donnie quietly took her home.

Double Deck Plane Crashes

San Francisco (AP)—A mammoth double-decked airliner, on a test and training flight, crashed on its back in shallow water in San Francisco bay yesterday, killing the three fliers aboard. It carried no passengers.

United Airlines said the strato-cruiser was being flown by two senior captains, veterans in the service. They were Fred Angstadt of Los Angeles and Hugh C. Worthington of nearby San Mateo. With them was Charles Brogren of Millbrae, a suburb.

About 45 minutes after the ship left San Francisco airport, it flopped down in the mudflats 20 miles south of San Francisco and about two miles from shore.

The plane, built to carry up to 75 passengers, was a shapely piece of wreckage.

Moves Toward Vote

Washington (AP)—The Senate put on a sudden burst of speed yesterday toward final passage of the $61,103,856,000 defense bill after wringing in curbs on Pentagon "white collar" employees and a two-year time limit on spending authority.

Allied Infantrymen Thrust North In Limited Offensive

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Thursday, (AP)—Hard fighting U. S. and South Korean infantrymen, supported by flamethrowers, tanks and planes, drove slowly northward yesterday in limited objective attacks among the endless hills of central and east Korea.

They met some of the stiffest resistance of recent months. The Allies ground forward along parts of an 80-mile front. It stretched from the iron-triangle sector on the west-central front to the Sea of Japan. The Allied objective was to keep the Communists off balance.

It was not spectacular fighting—except on a local scale—but it progressed like some huge construction job.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, told newsmen during inspection of U. S. 25th Division troops on the west-central front that there were no present indications the Red armies were ready to launch an offensive, despite the recent Communist buildup.

This seemed to contradict a statement by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo last week that events in Korea "suggest the possibility of a forthcoming air and ground offensive by the enemy."

Possibly the difference was only in time—Ridgway thinking in terms of weeks or months, and Van Fleet in days.

Whatever the opinions, there was evidence of an uninterrupted Red buildup. There was huge truck traffic in North Korea, slacking off slightly only in the past two days; heavy Communist rail traffic, continued work on Red air strips and roads; growing Red artillery bombardments; the use of occasional tanks and self-propelled guns.

Bowles Chosen Envoy To India

Washington (AP)—Chester Bowles, former Connecticut governor, was nominated ambassador to India yesterday in a shift involving two key diplomatic posts.

President Truman, in making the nomination, also accepted the long-pending resignation of Henry F. Grady, ambassador to Iran.

The present envoy to India, Loy W. Henderson, was selected to replace Grady at Teheran.

Ignore Soviet Proposal

United Nations, N. Y. (AP)—Disregarding Soviet protests that the United States ought to pay half of the U. N. bills, a U. N. committee has recommended a cut in the U. S. assessment and an increase in Russia's dues to the U. N.

General To Retire For Third Time

Washington (AP)—Old Soldier George C. Marshall retired yesterday as secretary of defense, carrying with him the warm praise of President Truman for distinguished and patriotic service to his country.

The 70-year-old five-star general said he was stepping down from the high post "for very personal reasons." He had served in it exactly one year. He will be succeeded by his deputy and close friend, Robert A. Lovett, 56.

President Truman accepted Marshall's resignation "with great reluctance" and told the general in a letter:

"In again accepting your resignation from a position of high responsibility, I realize how many times previously you have sought to retire to private life, but one time after another you have responded to the call of public service."

"To all of these offices you have brought great talent and wisdom. In fact, no man ever has given his country more distinguished and patriotic service than have you. You have earned your retirement many fold and I wish you many good years at Leesburg."

This is the third time since World War Two that Marshall has tried to retire to the quiet and peace of his home at Leesburg, Va. But twice he has been recalled to government service and he told Mr. Truman that if necessary he will come out of retirement temporarily again in the future.

After winning world renown as U. S. chief of staff in World War Two, Marshall went into retirement at Leesburg. But two years later President Truman sent him to China on the fruitless mission to end the civil war there.

Then he was named secretary of state. He resigned this post in January, 1949, but not until the government had launched the giant foreign aid program to combat Communism, which became known as "the Marshall plan."

Exactly one year ago yesterday, the president called Marshall from retirement again to succeed Louis A. Johnson as secretary of defense.

Lovett is a former New York investment banker who has won many friends in Congress during a 10-year hitch in government service. He has been assistant secretary of war, undersecretary of state, and Marshall's deputy in the Defense department.

Inmate Slain By Ball Bat

Philadelphia (AP)—A convict at Eastern State penitentiary was beaten to death with a baseball bat yesterday and Deputy Warden Walter Tees is holding another prisoner on suspicion of the killing.

Tees said he will seek a hearing on a homicide charge for Marshall Pepperissa, Philadelphia, who is serving a ten to 20-year term for burglary.

The victim, William E. Van Arsdale, 23, also of Philadelphia, was serving two to ten years for a filling station holdup. He died at the prison hospital with a fracture of the skull.

Tees said Pepperissa smuggled the bat into his cell and attacked Van Arsdale in a corridor.

General Hoban Plans To Retire

Washington (AP)—The Army said yesterday Brig. Gen. Thomas Linus Hoban of Scranton has requested retirement and that he will enter Walter Reed hospital next week for necessary physical examinations.

Hoban was assistant commander of the 28th Division when that Pennsylvania National Guard unit was called into Federal service last Fall. He was later transferred to Army headquarters here and has been serving on promotion selection boards.

The Army said Hoban's retirement may be for physical disability if the hospital tests warrant. Otherwise he will be entitled to retire because of his length of service.

Search Called Off

Alexandria, La. (AP)—A search for a C-47 airplane reported to have crashed was called off yesterday because officers considered the report a hoax.

McMahon Claims Destructive Fury Of America's Atomic Weapons Is Truly Fantastic

Washington, (AP)—Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) said yesterday the destructive fury of America's atomic weapons is "truly fantastic... a frightful threat" that dwarfs anything previously known to man.

McMahon, chairman of the Senate-House Atomic committee, made the statement to newsmen on emerging from an "important" closed-door session with members of the Atomic Energy commission.

Tight-mouthed as to details, McMahon told reporters:

"We have made truly remarkable progress in the development of atomic weapons. The destructive power in the atomic stockpile today is by any standards we have previously known truly fantastic."

McMahon shied away from any comment about new weapons, but it was noted that in speaking of progress he used the word "development"—a hint perhaps of greatly improved weapons—rather than mere production.

The exact size of the nation's atomic bomb stockpile is a closely guarded secret.

Gambling Case Ignored; Judge Raps Grand Jury

Scranton, (AP)—Judge Otto F. Robinson yesterday criticized the Lackawanna county grand jury for ignoring the only gambling case given it to consider.

Declaring the action of the jury was hard to believe Judge Robinson asked for an explanation why the case of Bernard Dottle of nearby Carbondale, was marked "ignored," when handed to him with 94 other bills by the jury foreman.

A juror told the judge the Dottle presentation was considered twice and "ignored" twice, the second time by a margin of "one or two votes."

Judge Robinson also was told a majority of the jury thought "it was a small matter."

Records show that $12.40 was confiscated when Carbondale police raided Dottle's place of business and found men playing poker.

Tax Evader Sent To Jail

Scranton, (AP)—U. S. District Judge W. Murphy yesterday sentenced realtor Robert E. Stoehr to a six-year prison term for income tax evasion. Stoehr also was fined $20,000.

Stoehr, former owner of a furniture store here, was convicted in May, 1950 of failing to pay income tax of $338,000.

Yesterday newspapers carried a letter from the widow thanking all.

Proximity Fuse, Super-Secret Weapon Of Last War, May Be Decisive Factor In Korea

Washington, (AP)—This is the intriguing story of a super-secret weapon developed in World War Two that became so emmeshed in military secrecy few people knew how to use it effectively when the Korean war broke out.

The curiosity of a civilian scientist at the Pentagon finally broke the bonds of secrecy and increased the use of the killer-gadget in Korea to the point that it may be a decisive weapon in turning back any new Red offensive against United Nations forces.

This weapon today — due largely to one man — is one of the most important in the U. N. arsenal and reports show it has been responsible for much of the slaughter of Chinese troops.

The scientist in the case is Dr. Louis N. Ridenour Jr., a 40-year-old physicist who served as a radar expert under the combined chiefs of staff during the last war. He now is in the office of the Air Force deputy chief of staff for development.

The weapon which he pulled out of mothballs is the proximity fuse—the electronic gadget that can cause artillery and anti-aircraft shells, rockets or bombs to explode within a few feet of their target.

For example, the fuse is screwed into the nose of a bomb. When the bomb is dropped, a tiny radio in the fuse sends out waves which bounce back from a target to a receiver. As the bomb nears its target, the echoes waves "trigger" the bomb to explode in the proximity of the target.

In this manner, shells, rockets or bombs may be exploded over the heads of enemy troops, showering them with deadly slugs of shrapnel from which an uncovered foxhole is no protection.

Last Fall, Ridenour was curous as to why the armed forces were not using more proximity fuses in the shelling and bombing of enemy troops. There was a large stock of the fuses in the Far East. They were a potentially potent anti-personnel weapon. But few were being used.

The major reason given was that comparatively few people had been trained in the use of the fuse — and until recently only a handful of Air Force men had been "cleared" for security to work with the fuse.

But now the Army is using 17 times as many proximity fuses as before. The Air Force which had used none is now using hundreds of them in anti-personnel (AP) bombs.

Milk Agency Survives Attempts On Its Life But Critics Of Price-Fixing Not Silenced

(This is the last in a series of three articles on the State Milk Control Commission.)

By John Dietrich

Harrisburg (AP)—Pennsylvania's embattled Milk Control commission appears to have survived another legislative effort to wipe it out of existence.

Five bills have been introduced this year in the General Assembly to abolish the agency, but none appears likely to be passed.

The question of whether the State should have the power to fix the price of milk for Keystone citizens has long been a subject of controversy.

Sen. Elmer J. Holland (D-Allegheny), a long-time opponent of the commission, says the State does not need the agency.

"This Milk commission was never intended to be a permanent fixture of government, but merely a stopgap between depression days and the days when full employment was a reality," said Holland.

However, H. N. Cobb, chairman of the commission, does not share Holland's view.

"I am now starting my 10th year on this agency," Cobb said, "and I am thoroughly convinced that at least 90 to 95 per cent of the producers and dealers feel a stabilizing influence has been extended in the dairy industry by the Milk Control commission."

"If the regulation of the industry was suddenly withdrawn, I think we would have a chaotic condition," he added.

The chairman pointed out that under the supervision of the commission with its price fixing powers, Pennsylvania has extended a lower milk price to consumers and a higher price for producers than most surrounding states.

Retail prices in Pennsylvania at the present time range from 21½ cents a quart to 23 cents. In comparison, the price in New York City is 24 cents a quart, in Atlantic City, 25.5 cents, in Trenton, N. J., 23½ cents, in Buffalo, 23, and in Albany, N. Y., 23. Both New York and New Jersey have milk-control agencies.

The only nearby state with consistently lower prices than in Pennsylvania is Ohio where there are no milk controls. The present retail price in Cleveland, for example, is 21 cents a quart, and in Akron 18.

The commission maintains that while prices are lower in Ohio than in Pennsylvania the situation is not healthy because farmers are receiving substantially less there for their milk. This practice, the commission claims, "is not conducive to an adequate supply of wholesome milk."

However, a recent survey of milk prices in 15 cities by a Pittsburgh newspaper found that "where free competition is allowed in the milk industry, milk users get a break."

"And nowhere, simply nowhere," the survey reported, "is there a milk shortage regardless of some astonishingly low prices."

The survey noted also that "milk prices are higher wherever control commissions set the rate." Although dairy farmers on occasions have criticized the actions of the commission, they are generally regarded as favoring its continued existence. Dealers also, while critical of the agency at times, are reported as friendly toward the commission.

Most consistent opponent of the commission's price fixing actions has been the city of Pittsburgh. The city now has a court suit underway challenging the justification of a recent milk price hike in the steel city.

Cobb, however, maintains that the opposition to his agency by the Pittsburgh Democratic city government is "politically inspired."

"You never can hope to please everybody," he says.

Oatis Isn't Alone

Citizens of other countries have been getting a dose of the Oatis treatment.

The British representative in Philadelphia has filed a joint protest from Canada, Britain, Australia, Ceylon and the United States over the treatment of their nationals in Communist China.

The Canadian Government in Ottawa especially denounced the abuse of Canadian missionaries in China, who have been subjected to arbitrary arrest and "harsh treatment."

The fact that these missionaries for many years have been engaged in humanitarian work in China is meaningless to the Communists. Barbarism knows no humanness. To a Communist, any foreigner is a spy.

It is reported that Secretary of State Acheson, British Foreign Minister Morrison and French Foreign Minister Schuman will discuss the Oatis case in their talks in Washington this week.

It is an appropriate topic.

Because William N. Oatis, the American newspaperman jailed by the Czech Communists, is not the first victim of Communist brutishness. Nor will he be the last, as the British, Australians, Ceylonese and others are finding out.

It makes no difference whether the Communists are Czechs, Chinese or Russians. Abuse, harassment and brutality are main features of the party line.

Protests, as our State Department has proved, are useless.

It is suggested the Big Three foreign officers may consider trade reprisals as a means of freeing Mr. Oatis and protecting other nationals from Communist sadists.

That's the only kind of medicine for what ails the Reds. And if it is administered jointly, the effects will be telling.

Income and Outgo

Since July 1 and through last Saturday, the U. S. Government has spent $10,815,540.202.

In the same time, the receipts were $6,452,610.534.

Deficit: $4,362,929.668.

Last year in the same period, the expenses were $5,856,727,531, a mere $833,416,547 more than the income.

The Government is spending almost twice as fast this year as last. As the rearmament program speeds up, this spending will go up and up and up.

Which points up the urgent necessity of a tax bill which will raise enough money to meet the Government's needs. And of a sharp cut-back in non-defense spending.

Latest Communique

Among the week-end stories to reach the public prints was a quote from Publisher Roy Roberts, the rotund boss of the Kansas City Star, who said, in a radio address, that General Ike Eisenhower told him he is "a good Kansas Republican, like all his forebears."

The general, busily engaged in trying to put together an army of free men to stop the Russian threat, still said nothing. In fact, he has said nothing political with such consummate acumen that we are beginning to believe he is a better diplomat than many of those who have that title.

But what we are right curious to learn is whether Ike told Mr. Roberts it was O. K. to repeat the comment. Anyway, it adds another bit of folklore to the Eisenhower story, and only time will tell whether the soldier will be the G.O.P. candidate after next summer's convention.

Among American girls from one to four years old, one out of every five deaths is caused by accident.

Cultural note from Hollywood via Mike Connolly: a starlet gave an interior decorator carte blanche in redecorating her drawing room and library. "I don't care what you do to the joint," she declared, "as long as when my friends get a load of it they'll just drop dead."

Connolly also reports that a producer had a nightmare the other evening in which his newly finished epic, costing three million dollars, was previewed in a trans-Pacific stratosphere, and the pilot radioed back to the mainland, "I saw history made to-night! First time an audience ever walked out at 10,000 feet."

Gordon MacRae says that, what with all the science-fiction stories flooding the market, editors will soon have to change their formula to "Man gets girl; man loses girl; man builds girl."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—How do you tell an actor his latest picture is lousy? You don't, of course. But suppose he or a producer or studio press-agent asks your opinion.

There are several ways for this ticklish situation in practice here. Since they can be applied with slight codification to many of life's awkward moments—like when your hostess asks what you think of her latest recipe—here they are:

"You've done it again! This is the commonest dodge here. The commentator hasn't really committed himself. Yet the creator can, if he wishes, and he usually does, interpret it as high praise and burst into a neon glow of pride.

In similar vein are "You've got a picture there" and "There is a picture." A bachelor friend of mine adapts the latter to conceal his boredom when shown pictures of his married friends babies: "There is a baby!"

The trouble with "That's a picture" is that some passerby will corrupt your comment with vocal punctuation into, "That's a picture?" I personally prefer the response of "I liked the photography" or "the acting"—if it can be honestly said. "But the story was disappointing" can be either expressed or implied.

A sophisticated reviewer friend keeps these phrases handy: "Well, it's going to be a great boxoffice." "It's an audience picture" (his silent thought being, "But not for me"). "They'll love it in the ads." "Or, it ain't art but it'll sell." And if the audience was apathetic: "What can you expect from a hep preview audience?"

A local reviewer tells me: "The smart reviewer avoids me! The agents, you sit on the aisle and move awfully fast when it's over—if not before."

A less-kind chap here once went to a penny arcade and stamped out a bunch of those aluminum disks on which you can print your name and address. Only these—his personal awards which he carried for distribution when occasion warranted—said: "It stinks!"

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

New England Pilgrimage While the San Francisco Conference was in session, I was traveling in the atmosphere of old New England. Maybe I should have got all excited, hopped on a plane, got me a seat in the press gallery and watched Messrs. Acheson and Gromyko fight the battle of wits and words.

Instead, starting in these Berkshire hills, we motored toward Maine. First we went to a little place called Sturbridge where a New England village of the eighteenth century has been reconstructed within its proper setting. There we lunched and the trip had an unexpectedly good start.

Then we motored to Concord, to the city of Emerson and Hawthorne and the irrepressible Alcott. My little girl was principally interested in "Little Women" and my wife in the chaste houses of New England.

Hawthorne pervades this area. Concord, Salem, Stockbridge—he seems to have left his mark wherever he lived; and to see a chair on which Emerson sat and Hawthorne wrote is to get at the very roots of things American.

We were on our way to York Harbor, Maine, where I was to do a chore of speech-making for my friend, Marion Martin. Unfortunately, I missed Portsmouth on this trip. No city has more charming early American houses than Portsmouth, except Salem, and Charleston, South Carolina. To Portsmouth's houses, even a tourist must devote a week; that is, if the tourist finds beautiful homes interesting and exciting and if his imagination can make him feel the lives of our progenitors.

For a house speaks personality. That is never true of a city apartment or of those banded-together affairs with all modern conveniences but no lived-in atmosphere. Show me what kind of homes men build for their families, and I can almost sense their ideals of life. That, I, a simpler and even truer way, my little girl said about Louisa May Alcott's home in Concord, and about the house of the seven gables in Salem where Hawthorne's cousin, Susan Ingersoll, lived.

We headed down in Salem at the Hawthorne hotel, which the local citizens built just off the square. But we could not remain indoors with so much beauty about us. So we trudged through the night, looking at the outside of these unbelievably beautiful houses, some of which we would visit the next day.

The builders of these homes, many dead a century or so, were known to me with such intimacy as comes from China coast tables. For many of them were the masters and supercargoes of the clipper ships which sailed from Salem to Asia when this nation was young, bringing back with them silks and teas and spices to enrich the lives of our people.

Their homes speak eloquently of their great love for country and family. Only such as dreamed of home on the vast and tumultuous seas, as they rounded the Cape or sailed across the expansive Pacific, could put such affection into the place to which, wind and weather being willing, they would one day return. The doors of Chestnut Street are a holiday of affection for home. And in Salem all the doors of the old houses point to the sea, as Moslems pray facing toward Mecca. In the Essex Institute, it is possible to spend hours, perhaps years, tracing out the stories of these courageous traders.

In the "House of Seven Gables" and in other houses, there are, of course, secret staircases and chimneys into which children could be hidden. This was for safety against Indian raids and so events. Those people knew no security and risked much, and perhaps that is why their houses are built so closely together. And yet, even now, there is an air of peace and quiet in this town which is hard to find elsewhere, particularly in a place where industry and neon signs and the automobile are also present.

Salem captured my imagination and love and I could not help wondering why the Ford Foundation, which seeks to spend millions in all parts of the world, does not devote itself to the restoration and preservation of the national monuments of American tradition. New England is rich in such treasures; but they exist all over this land. Henry Ford was captured by an enthusiasm for old America; it would be a living monument to him if all the beauty of the early periods of American life could be preserved as the French safeguard their national monuments. That would be something useful for the Ford foundation to do.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington—Communism is as much of a horror to decent people in Europe as it is in the U. S. A. Consequently in talking to diplomats and others in Europe Communism was almost invariably discussed.

The consensus in Europe is that U. S. State Department officials know little of what Communism is or that they are the most frightening collection of dupes in diplomatic history.

Embassies abroad for years got a constant barrage of unsolicited opinion from U. S. officials. In respect to the revolution in China, just to take one example. They were told, as were the American people, that the Reds in China were harmless, garden variety Communists with no ties to the Soviet Union.

Smart diplomats in Europe knew better and wondered if U. S. State Department officials are unable to read or just plain dumb. Here is one reason:

Back in 1927, when Bolshevik activities in China really got going, a few smart anti-Communist Chinese stationed in Peking decided to examine Red espionage in detail. They raided the Soviet military attaché's office in Peking on April 6, 1927. What they found was later published and distributed abroad to all friendly countries, including the U. S. A. In fact, a number of state department officials in China got some of the data first hand.

You'd think that anyone getting paid in the State department as a "China expert" would have read the Peking raid papers. Without having done so, it would be impossible to know what the Russians were up to in China. But even so, U. S. officials kept on calling the Chinese Reds simple reformers, until Russia got a tight and bloody grasp on the country.

I can't quote in full from the most important document seized from the Russians in Peking, but I can give you a few pertinent paragraphs, so you can make up your own mind whether or not the Chinese Communists were reformers or paid Soviet Russian agents. For the benefit of the "China experts" in the State department, I'll make available the Peking raid reports so they can brush up on what is and has been going on in China for the past 24 years. Here is a sample:

"Document K, very confidential. Sitting on the commission on Chinese affairs, Peking, August 4, 1926. Present: Comrades Unsicht, Chicherin, Bubnoff, Trissner, Radek, Kopp, Solovyeff, Melinkoff, Longva, Ouzar and Gals.

"The commission is of the opinion that the situation in China dictates the following basic military and political tasks to the people's army:

"A. To hold the Province of Chahar; B. To commence negotiations with Mukden in order to have a respite and the possibility of taking up again the active struggle against Chihli; to supply Feng with three armoured cars, to supply a loan and to take urgent and strict measures to improve the accounts and the sales guarding of ammunition and arms at Kalgan.

There are dozens of other negotiations seized after the Soviet comrades got through with their meeting, all of which allude to work assigned to Communists inside China. In one instance spies were instructed to improve their work at Canton, the infiltration of the loyal Chinese armies was ordered stepped up and the Chinese school in Moscow was pronounced effective and ordered enlarged.

This is just a sample of one of hundreds of documents seized from the Russians and distributed to U. S. and other diplomats. The documents set forth the aims and objectives of the Chinese Communists, under Soviet direction, most precisely. All the aims and objectives have been carried out in the past 24 years, but the blind

There is a better example closer to home, however, since Senators Pat McCarran and Joe McCarthy started pulling the plug on pro-Communist Frederick V. Field, State department officials have been walking around acting surprised. They never knew Field was pro-Communist, they say now, although half the officials in the department bugged up to the radical millionaire. Well, I know different. In 1945 the State department's two public relation experts put out a list of correspondents for press and radio who were going to attend the United Nations conference at San Francisco.

The two, Lincoln White and Mike McDermott, issued press pass No. 825 to Frederick V. Field. Guess whom he was representing? The Communist Daily Worker. But still the boys are surprised. Makes you wonder.

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

How many people are Communists without realizing it? I think that is the very reason why it is so difficult to fight Communism, to eradicate it from our political and social picture.

I don't like to be an alarmist or to go into social economic political problems too deeply. I am merely looking at life, and I am doing it by trying to find out what people think, and reporting their thoughts to you with my comments.

And thus I have come to the conclusion that far more people are Communists than the official lists of the party may show.

Perhaps YOU are a Communist without knowing it.

Here is an excerpt from a long, rambling letter that came to me from Hollywood.

The writer expresses all sorts of thoughts about modern life in America and ends his letter with the following remarks:

"My observation is that every person likes the same things that any other person likes. We all, regardless of our condition, like good things and plenty of them. There is no disagreement there.

"So, we may say, we have no need for disagreement, so long as we all enjoy things equally.

Monroe County Committee Maps Defense Bond Campaign

Drive To Be Biggest Since World War Two

Plans for Monroe county's part in the most whopping U. S. defense bond drive since the last war began rolling in Stroudsburg yesterday.

The meeting, attended by 28 representatives of county civic, political and industrial life, was at Wyckoff's tea room. Chairman of the county defense bonds advisory committee is E. H. Wyckoff.

The mammoth drive opened throughout the U. S. on Labor day. Present in an advisory capacity were Rudolph A. Jacobson and J. E. Casiragh, both of Philadelphia, U. S. Treasury employees. Jacobson is director of community activities and Casiragh regional payroll savings director in Pennsylvania.

No quota county on bond sales was set at last night's meeting. It will be announced later, however, after plans are further developed. "Millions of Americans have discovered, and millions more will discover during this coming drive, that there is no better way to acquire the savings habit, and thus assure your financial independence, than the easy, automatic payroll savings plan for purchasing defense bonds," Mr. Wyckoff declared.

The chairman stated that during the drive, volunteers would remind the people of the "millions of homes that might never have been built, educations that might have been missed, home appliances, automobiles and other goods that might never have been purchased, and dignified retirements that would have been impossible if patriotic and prudent Americans had not invested in U. S. defense and war bonds."

Replying to the argument that U. S. savings bonds purchased for $18.75 were not now worth $25 in current purchasing power, Wyckoff pointed out that the decline in value of the dollar also affected savings accounts, insurance and some other forms of investment, bearing fixed interest rates.

Stating that the reduced buying power of the dollar has been produced primarily by a demand for goods and services greater than the supply, and the creation of a record volume of credit, Wyckoff said that U. S. defense bonds were "among the most important weapons in the fight against such runaway inflation."

"A build-up in the purchase of defense bonds is a vital link in our national defense effort," he said.

"Those who are charged with our nation's defense have warned that we are perhaps in greater danger today than during World War Two when the American people responded so magnificently to war bond appeals. Defense bonds are just as vital today."

Other reasons cited by Wyckoff for the purchase of defense bonds were:

One—Defense bonds fight against inflation by withdrawing money from circulation when goods are scarce.

Two—Defense bonds are available whenever needed, and the investor need never risk taking a cash loss on them if a quick sale is required.

Three—They are protected against physical loss, theft, or destruction. If lost, stolen or destroyed, the Treasury department will replace them.

Four—They are an "ideal investment, the safest in the world, backed by the U. S. government. If Defense Bonds aren't safe, no investment is."

Five—By spreading ownership of government securities, they increase citizen interest in efficient government.

Six—They encourage thrift. As defense bond purchases rise, so do savings accounts, insurance, savings and loans and other forms of saving.

Defendant Held For Contempt Of Court After Speaking Too Violently Before Magistrate

An East Stroudsburg man talked once too often—and too violently—at a hearing yesterday before Justice of the Peace Herbert G. Bonser.

Appearing before the East Stroudsburg justice was Charles Werkheiser, 51, who gave his address as 135 E. Brown St.

As his hearing on a charge of obtaining money fraudulently got under way, Werkheiser ripped off several unprintable opinions of the court's ancestry and ability, the magistrate related.

"I warned him seven or eight times," Justice Bonser said. "I asked him how much he'd had to drink, and he told me one beer. But then when he called me a son-of-a-bitch, that was too much."

Justice Bonser ordered Werkheiser to Monroe county jail for contempt of court. He will remain there until the next session of the county court.

The justice said Werkheiser originally was arrested August 17 and released under his own recognizance pending yesterday's hearing.

Werkheiser is charged with defrauding the Department of Public Assistance. He was alleged to have obtained $560 in assistance funds while he held a job at the same time.

The accused man said he has been working as a laborer for William P. Donlin, Inc., State Teachers College, East Stroudsburg.

Formal Opening Of Skating Center Scheduled Saturday Night At CLU Park Building

Stroud roller rink, a completely new and colorful skating center with a capacity for 500 skaters, will have its formal opening at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in the former CLU Memorial Park building, off Route 611, two miles north of Stroudsburg.

Opening ceremonies and dedication of the rink at 7:30 p. m. Saturday will feature a program with top county officials, the clergy and representatives of civic organizations. Radio Station WVPO will record the ceremony for a rebroadcast between 6 p. m. and 7 p. m. Sunday.

The new recreation center has been built and will be operated by Stroud Enterprises, Inc., a new, local corporation which has retained Roy C. Kinney, a professional skater who has owned, managed rinks and taught skating since 1910.

In creating the new skating center, the ownership has placed emphasis on the finest possible floor, perfection in acoustics, music and a wide range of lighting combinations.

"This is one of the most beautiful skating rinks in the entire East," Mr. Kinney said yesterday.

He managed the Lexington Roller Rink at Harrisburg; the Rainbow at Harrisburg; owned the Island Park rink at Sunbury and Skateland at Lewisburg which catered chiefly to Bucknell College students. He came here to manage Stroud Roller rink from a huge rink near Oak Ridge, Tenn.

He has taught dancing on skates all over the East, including New York City and has appeared professionally in a similar territory. His instruction is done from standard dance skating techniques established by international text books which enables the skater to dance anywhere in the world.

Some 7,000 feet of the finest Canadian maple flooring has been installed. Both shoe and clamp skates, all new, have been stocked. They are from the Chicago Roller Skate Co.

Lighting, in addition to five fluorescent ceiling fixtures, include a huge, spinning crystal shower to pick up colorful reflections from eight color spot lights, four of which will have motor driven color wheels.

Heating and plumbing has been installed by CLU Social club who have leased the property, including ample lighted parking space to Stroud Enterprises, Inc.

A lobby with light lunch counter all finished in knotty pine effect has been added by Stroud Enterprises.

William N. Walton, Justice of Peace, will be out of town Thursday and Friday, Sept. 14th and 15th.—Adv.

PP&L Asks Tariff Increase For Large Power Users; Home, Farm Rates Unchanged

As a result of continually rising prices on practically all items going into the cost of providing electric service, Pennsylvania Power & Light Co. announced yesterday it is filing tariff changes with the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission to become effective Nov. 12, 1951, which will increase charges under certain of the electric rate schedules under which the large commercial, industrial and resale customers are served.

J. C. Knowles, Lehigh division vice president, said that residential, farm and small commercial customers are not affected by this filing.

"The company," Knowles added, "is also including with these changes a new and lower fuel adjustment clause to replace the two fuel adjustment clauses presently in effect. While this new lower fuel clause partially offsets the coincident increased rate charges, the net result is some increase in the total charges to the customer.

Compared to the very substantial increases which have already taken place in the price of all other commodities, this increase in rates for large power users can be considered as a very modest one. In the past decade the cost of providing electric service has mounted rapidly — wage rates have doubled, the prices of materials and equipment have likewise pushed upward and the cost of constructing more and more facilities to meet customers' expanding use has advanced rapidly. The inflationary effect has been compounded by mounting taxes and the result has been to make existing power rates inadequate to support the burden."

Mr. Knowles explained, "The company has employed every means possible of effecting economies in all phases of its operations, but continually increasing costs have more than offset the effects of these savings. Viewed in the light of the drastic changes which have taken place, the proportionately small advance made in electric power rates is a noteworthy achievement. Electricity still remains the customer's biggest bargain.

"The increase in revenue the company will realize from the increased charges will have an important bearing on the utility's ability to maintain, improve and expand its facilities in Central Eastern Pennsylvania to meet steadily mounting demands of our growing population, the increasing needs of industry and agriculture plus the additional requirements for military preparedness.

The tariff changes affecting those electric customers served under schedule GLP-3, GLP-4, GLP-5, B-1, B-2, B-6, B-8B, B-17D, IC-5B,

Kiwanis Speaker Emphasizes Importance Of Making Proper Will For Family's Protection

John E. Watt, trust officer of the Stroudsburg Security Trust Co., spoke at the Kiwanis club meeting at the Penn-Stroud hotel yesterday afternoon. He discussed the subject "How Much Is Your Money Worth?" during which he emphasized the importance of care in making a will and follow up to meet changing conditions. Frank L. Strickman was program chairman.

In his introductory, Mr. Watt said "One day your capital will be used to operate an investment business. Your wife, children and other beneficiaries will probably have to depend for their living either partially or wholly on the income it produces. Your money will not be worth as much to them as it is to you."

He told the simplicity of computing net worth of one's dollars and also pointed out the English approach to the question as being more realistic than ours.

In figuring the worth of one's money, he said even gross income is only part of the picture. "Taxes purchasing power, rate of income from investments cause true value of money to vary. Even though your net worth, in terms of principal, may remain static, its true value in terms of daily living will vary materially, perhaps drastically, with changing conditions."

Speaking on the decline of income on investments, he emphasized the importance of the contents of a will. Invested wealth, he said, can no longer earn the return originally figured on. Replacing of the will, he said, may prevent the undue waste of assets through payment of unnecessary taxes and administrative expenses. Such a saving, by increasing the amount of principal left for your beneficiaries, will help to offset the declining interest rate, the speaker pointed out.

Mr. Watt declared money buys less now than 20 years ago, which he illustrated by actual figures, showing purchasing power has been cut approximately 75 per cent in that period.

Facing this depreciation in value, the speaker told the higher income taxes, 12 times as large, with consequent adverse effect of these taxes on the family's living standards. This, he said, could be partially offset by increasing the principal sum left in an estate. The importance of careful planning a will to avoid depreciation was pointed out. Present estate plans might cause payment of unnecessary death taxes and administration expenses, Watt told his hearers.

The speaker also explained how much one's money will shrink at death. Principal will shrink and "the family will receive not what you leave but only what is left," he said.

"In the face of this shrinkage, you must do everything possible to be sure that the shrinkage will not be any more than it should be. If your will was drawn even a few years ago — before 1938 — it is extremely important for you to review it. The shrinkage may be materially reduced," said the speaker, who advised contacting lawyers in preparation.

Discussing what can be done about it, Watt said: "You cannot overcome the lower interest trend or mounting living costs. Nobody can. But you can effect savings. Theoretically, perhaps, the tax on a man's estate should be the same no matter how he leaves it. Actually, the tax laws are much more favorable to some financial set-ups than to others."

The directors of the club authorized the payment of the $500 voted some time ago to the Children's Clothing Inc. project. It was pointed out there is a heavy demand right now for shoes for children starting in school. All new clothing, etc., are furnished in deserving families following careful screening. It was stated.

Mr. Watt treasurer of the club.

Fashion Show Highlights GOP Party

The rolling lawn at the Ralph Speiser home on West Main St., furnished the setting for the fashion show of brilliant fall clothes at the meeting of the Monroe Council of Republican Women held yesterday afternoon.

There were about 100 members and friends present for the show which featured models from the council and from the Young Republican club and which was directed by Mrs. Frank L. Patterson Jr.

Television clothes, casuals, suits, late afternoon dresses, evening dresses and coats were featured in the show. All of the clothes shown were from Segura's, with shoes from George's shoe store.

The clothes exemplified the brilliance of color and elegance of fabric which characterize this autumn's fashions. The Italian influence, and the Siamese influence showed up strongly in many of the fashions — the full flowing coats, the shapely shoulders. Combinations of fabrics, emphasis on buttons and pockets, use of gold and velvet marked the show.

Following the program, a business meeting was held when Mrs. J. Russell Costard was re-elected to a second term as president of the council. Other officers elected included: Mrs. Olaf Pedersen, first vice president; Mrs. Irving B. Kiffin, recording secretary; Mrs. Joseph Shane, assistant; Mrs. Walter R. Stanard, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Spencer Cramer, treasurer.

Members autographed a booklet designed by Joseph Shane to be sent to Senator Homer Capehart in gratitude for his speaking here last summer.

Fire Co. Aux. To Serve Turkey Supper

There were 19 members present at the meeting of the Marshall's Creek Fire Co. auxiliary held Tuesday night at the firehouse in Marshall's Creek. Officers to be elected at the October meeting, were nominated.

Plans were made for a turkey supper to be served October 19. Following reports of summer activities, refreshments were served by Betty Smith and Dorothy Blake.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Everybody was puffing and pointing around as if yesterday were the hottest day of the summer. Trouble was mostly that you felt too out of step wearing your sunbaked dresses but it was too hot for anything else.

Anyway, heat or no heat, the Republican Women's club brought out the new fall fashions yesterday on members as well as models, and a gala time they had of it, too.

And a gala time everybody was having peeping through the cracks in the wall in front of the new construction, too. All of them ignoring the fact that the whole side was wide open. Some sort of arrangements are going to have to be made for peepholes, or we'll have a whole community of squint-eyed people.

And you'll have a society editor with only stumps for fingers if the news keeps coming in at the present rate. But we love it so let's hear from everyone of the 13 meetings listed for today, huh?

Bangor Depends On Speed

Three Letter Winners Back On Squad

Bangor — Bangor High school's grid machine rounded out its last day of hard work prior to its opening battle with Stroudsburg High school, here at Memorial Park tomorrow night, yesterday. The maroon and white clad charges of Coach Granville Evans will feature a light and inexperienced eleven, but one blessed with speed to burn.

Evans, operating as the head coach for the first time, is faced with a terrific rebuilding task at Bangor, as the Slaters lost a total of 18 lettermen through last June's graduation.

The only letter winners returning from last year's team are Len Castellucci, quarterback; Joe D'Imperio, end, and Rodney Miller, a half back. However, only two of the first 16 men on this season's eleven will be lost through graduation for next year.

Lost — Dick Smith, ace kicker for Bangor, before he broke an ankle last season, is still bothered with the leg and probably will play very little football this season.

The officials for tomorrow's encounter will be Herman Mescaill, Allentown, referee; Phil Bolman, Bath, head linesman; Joe Rodgers, Allentown, umpire, and Phil Bugen, Mountain Lake, N. J., field judge. Dave Thomas, faculty athletic manager at Bangor High, announced yesterday that general admission tickets for tomorrow's encounter will be sold at Smith's Pharmacy tonight, from 7 to 9. Season tickets may also be purchased at this time.

Mike DeVito, fullback who suffered a broken wrist last season, is reportedly the number one offensive weapon of the Bangor contingent.

Paul Wagner is serving as assistant mentor under Evans this year. Evans is succeeding Ed Conti, who guided Bangor's grid destinies last season.

No Wonder

Brooklyn, N. Y. — No wonder the Dodgers won 14 of the first 16 games in their series with the Cardinals. Nine Brooklyn players hit above .300 for the 16 contests. Of Roy Campanella's 18 hits, five were homers and five more doubles.

Athletic Council Decides To Approve Basketball Tourney

Stroudsburg High school's Athletic Council met at the High school building last night, in its first gathering of the 1951 school season. Routine business occupied most of the meeting, but the group did decide to approve the Christmas holiday basketball tournament proposed at Tuesday's meeting of the Lehigh Valley league.

No Action

However, Stroudsburg won't compete in the tournament this year, but will be eligible to take part in 1952. Lots were drawn at the Lehigh Valley league meeting, with four teams destined to play in the tournament this year, if approved, while the remaining four clubs will play next season.

All coaches, Jerry Stulgaitis, football; Sam Wells, football; John DeVivo, football, and Sam Russell, basketball, were present. Also on hand were T. Manning "Cap" Curtis, athletic director; Mahlon Serfass, faculty athletic manager, and Warren "Mag" Loney, representing the school board.

Joe Wallace and Henry Tucker, both school board members of the council, were unable to attend last night's meeting.

Champion Turns Slugger After Damage To Left Eye

New York, (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, slashing middleweight champion of the world who regained his title from Randolph Turpin with a spectacular tenth round technical knockout last night, said in a quiet, tired voice when it was all over:

Stroudsburg Ready For Initial Game

Stulgaitis Lists Starting Lineup

Jerry Stulgaitis, head grid mentor at Stroudsburg High school, announced yesterday that his pupils were free of injury and ready to go to battle against Bangor High tomorrow night, at Bangor, but longed for just one more week of practice sessions in which to round off some of the rough edges still in evidence on his squad.

However, the Mountaineers took part in their last hard workout yesterday, with taping off drills listed for today. The actual hour of combat tomorrow is slated for 8 p. m.

Backfield

Dick Schmidt will man the quarterback slot, with co-captain Allen "Red" Fetherman running out of the left half post and Karl Wein-gartner, right half. Dave Shook, transplant line-man, will handle the fullback's chores.

Others listed as certain to see action in the first encounter of the season are Dick Posten, Ben Miller, Don Garaventi, Bill Bailey, Earl Bachman, Dan Berman, Gene Rosh, Tom Berger, Dick Marman and Russ Irwin.

The Mountaineers have worked hard since practice opened last month, in an effort to overcome their lack of experience and to round into good playing condition for the opening game.

Stroudsburg, featuring seven new men in this year's starting array, will operate from the single wing formation, after using the "T" for the past several campaigns.

The Mountaineers face a tough ten game schedule this season, hitting their peak next month against East Stroudsburg. Lehigh is the final foe on Thanksgiving Day.

Lineman Will Lead

Atlanta, (AP)—When tackle Lamar Wheat, of Chattanooga, was named captain of the Georgia Tech football team, it marked the twelfth consecutive season that a lineman had been chosen to lead Tech eleven.

Not since 1939 when R. W. "Buck" Murphy was captain, has a back been picked for that post.

Biggest Grid Thrill

Robinson Regains Title From Turpin

Ray Robinson

By Jack Hand

New York (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, suddenly turned killer, by blood streaming from his left eye, won back his world middleweight title from Britain's Randy Turpin last night on a technical knockout with a violent attack that forced Referee Ruby Goldstein to stop the fight at 2:52 of the tenth round.

Unleashing the full fury of his bombs after the sturdy Briton opened the gash over his left eye, the sleek Harlem Sugar Ray shot the work in one furious burst that yanked in its feet the sellout crowd of 61,370 at the Polo grounds.

One thunderous right to the head, coming out of a flurry of blows caved Turpin's tricky defense. Down went the 23-year-old Negro on his back. Taking full advantage of the count he scrapped himself off the deck at 160.

But Robinson, who lost his 196-pound crown in a tremendous upset in London July 16, was not to be denied. Finishing Turpin against the ropes with the fury of his drive, he rained blow after blow at the reeling champion.

All Randy could do was twist his head. He couldn't even raise his hands to ward off the stunning blows.

It seemed as though his head surely must be torn from his shoulders by the enraged slasher.

Goldstein peered closely at badly damaged Randy—but still the blows continued in relentless attack. Just when Randy appeared ready to pitch forward on his face, the referee stopped it. At the end Turpin reeled forward wildly and almost sank to his knees.

This was a different Robinson than the lack-luster man who back-pedaled from Turpin's bullyboy tactics at London. Three pounds heavier at 157½, Robinson was punching with more power than last time when he never stunned the courageous Briton. Turpin weighed 159.

In the second round, a solid right to the jaw sent Turpin into his squat and his knees almost touched the floor. Again in the third, a left hook and a right combination shook up the valiant scrapper.

Turpin had shaken off the effect of these blows and was coming on in the eighth and ninth. Then he made the fatal mistake of opening the gash over Robinson's eye. That did it.

With the gore streaking down his face, Sugar Ray turned wild man. He knew he had to do it then or never.

And the title was his, ending the 61-day reign of Turpin—shortest in middleweight history. Turpin disputed Goldstein's judgment in stopping the fight in the dressing room.

"He shouldn't have stopped it," he said. "With only seven seconds to go, I was perfectly keen."

Robinson, joyous in victory, spoke into a mike in mid-ring to say "he's a great fighter."

"If he wants another fight, I'm willing to give it to him," Robinson said. "I'll fight anyone. I went after him after the cut because I knew I had to."

It was a close bruising contest until the violent ending. Robinson was out front by a narrow margin on the cards of two officials and even on the other. Referee Goldstein had it 4-1-1 and 5-3 in points.

Judge Harold Barnes saw it 5-3-1 in favor of Robinson and Judge Joe Angello 5-4 in favor of Sugar Ray. The AP card had Robinson on top 4-3 with two even after nine.

Reds Take Measure Of Dodgers, 6-3

Cincinnati, (AP)—Lloyd Merriman's base clearing triple in the seventh inning off Carl Erskine broke a 3-3 deadlock and gave the Cincinnati Reds a 6-3 victory over the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers here last night in the final game of their season series. Erskine, who limited the Dodgers to two hits in the five and two-thirds innings after replacing Ken Raffensberger in the second, was credited with the victory, his fifteenth after 14 losses.

Herman Wehmeier pitched scoreless ball in the last two frames after replacing Blackwell when the latter tired.

Erskine, who replaced Newcombe after the Reds got three runs in the first, was the loser. It was his tenth against 15 wins.

It was the Reds eighth victory over Brooklyn in 22 games.

First

The Reds slipped in the first when Duke Snider scored and fell on the right centerfield terrace while chasing Ted Kluszewski's fly. It fell for a double, scoring Bobby Adams who had walked and moved up when John Wyostek walked.

Wyostek ran in when Newcombe caught Bruce Edwards' fly and threw over Roy Campanella's head. Lloyd Merriman was passed purposely, leading the bases. Virgil Stallcup singled, scoring Kluszewski.

In the second, Jackie Robinson doubled and Andy Pafko homered over the left field fence, scoring Robinson. It was Pafko's twenty-third and his eleventh for Brooklyn.

The Dodgers tied up the game in the fifth frame when Robinson singled, scoring Carl Furillo who had walked.

Bobby Adams led off the winning seventh inning with a single to right field. Ryan walked, and Wyostek sacrificed, advancing both men. Kluszewski was intentionally passed, filling the bases. Merriman lined a triple down the right field foul line, emptying the bases.

Englishman Maintains He Was "Perfectly Keen" When Referee Halted Ring Activity

New York, (AP)—"The referee should not have stopped it," Randy Turpin said in his dressing room last night after losing the world's middleweight crown to Sugar Ray Robinson by a technical knockout.

Turpin, smiling and calm when he came into his quarters, laughed out loud when a reporter asked him if he was out on his feet in the spectacular tenth round when Robinson floored him.

"I was perfectly keen," the British bulldog said. "There were only eight seconds to go in the round and I was covering up. The doctor will confirm that."

Turpin said he thought he was well ahead going into the tenth. He had opened an ugly cut over Robinson's left eye and both fighters were splattered with blood. They both unleashed all their guns at the same time.

Catches Right

Randy said he caught a right hand from Robinson as he was coming in.

"It set me back," he said.

Turpin went down.

"I heard the count clearly, and you notice I got up well before it was finished."

He was asked why he stopped fighting. To ringsiders, it looked as though the wrinkle-browed Englishman was so dazed that he could do little more than hold his left glove to his face and duck low, trying to escape Robinson's frantic punching.

"It wasn't like that," Turpin said. "I was saving myself. There were only seven seconds left in the round."

Actually, there were eight seconds left in the round. Turpin cited his careful gauging of the amount of time left to bolster his contention that he was perfectly clear headed.

"I didn't have to clinch. He wasn't hitting me much. I thought I would wait out the round and then get him in the next one."

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Bob Siaph, correspondent for The Daily Record in the Newfoundland area, passed along one of those baseball stories that are usually found only in fiction books—but this one was actually supposed to have happened. Waymart was leading Brownvale in a Wayne County league game, with Brownvale at bat, two runners on the base paths and two men retired. John Planiechek, who had fanned three times previously, came to the plate to face Charley Decker, Waymart's ace mound artist. Just as anyone would expect at this time, Planiechek drove the ball over the fence for an apparent home run, giving Brownvale a one-run victory.

However, such wasn't the case. Planiechek, after rounding first base, veered in toward the pitcher's mound to give Decker a little good natured ribbing. Before the startled Brownvale slugger could resume his trip around the base paths, someone produced a ball and tagged Planiechek. The runner was ruled out by the umpire and everyone was completely confused. As the teams departed from the field someone was going to protest about something, but what was what just wasn't clear. The play made all the old timers think back to a fuss that a similar occurrence caused in the National league many years ago.

Charley Ritinski back in the area after a successful season of umpiring in the class "C" Middle Atlantic league. Charley was reportedly working out with the Pittsburgh Steelers at Cambridge Springs recently, until a shoulder injury forced his withdrawal from football for the present campaign. Ritinski expects to return to an umpire's school in February and is hopeful of getting a start in the coaching business next year. The big grinner starred at end for four years for East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and also played with the Bethlehem Bulldogs last season before that organization folded.

Jerry Muys has definitely decided to return to Princeton this fall, which I know is good news to anyone who has ever watched the likeable East Stroudsburg High school graduate play football, basketball and baseball at the N. Courtland St. school. Jerry, who was an outstanding star at all three sports while in high school, will be a sophomore when he returns to Princeton, where he is expected to resume his football duties.

Speaking of East Stroudsburg High school brings to mind the fact that the Cavaliers will take motion pictures of all their home football games this season. A camera will be mounted on top of a nine-foot tower on a truck which will move up and down the field with the play. It was also learned yesterday that East Stroudsburg has planned a telephone system between a spotter in the stands and the bench. However, I'm sure Coach Jack Kist would exchange all this for a remedy to the wave of injuries that has struck his line during the past week.

The consensus of opinion of those who have watched the Stroudsburg High grid machine go through its practice paces during the past couple of weeks is that the Mountaineers can land their first opening day victory in recent years on Friday, if the youngsters forming the W. Main St. grid machine show the spirit of which they are capable against Bangor, in the initial contest of the 1951 campaign for both clubs.

Ben Jones, coach of the Brookville High school football team, was given a royal sendoff this season when The Brookville American newspaper ran a full page of ads from merchants of that community, giving the Red Raiders a shot of town support before the present campaign opened its doors for action. Jones is a resident of South Stroudsburg, a graduate of Stroudsburg High school and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College. Benny has had marvelous success in his short coaching career.

Marty Baldwin, who picks Stroudsburg by two touchdowns over Bangor, and Glen Lichtenberg were on hand to see the wholesale list of upsets in the National Amateur tournament at Bethlehem's Saucon Valley club yesterday. East Stroudsburg High is scheduled to stick to the "T" formation, although its arch rival Stroudsburg has switched to the single wing, after using the "T" for several campaigns under Coach Jerry Stulgaitis, who is hopeful of a good season this year.

Eagles Down Worthington Mower In Playoff

Fegley Turns In Four-Hit Mound Job

Six runs in the bottom of the second inning were more than enough for the Eagles to win the first game of the Monroe County Softball League playoffs series from Worthington Mower last night, 11-2, on the East Stroudsburg Junior High school field. The victory gave the Eagles a commanding lead in the short best two-out-three-game series.

The outcome of the contest was never in doubt as the Eagles scored once in the first, six times in the second and then came back with four insurance runs in the bottom of the fifth round.

Gail "Doc" Fegley worked the distance on the hill for the Eagles, allowing only four harmless singles over the route. Worthington Mower averted a shutout by pushing two runs across the plate in the top of the sixth round.

Homer Jim Konowalik hammered a home run into right center field in the fifth inning, with no mates on the base paths.

However, the hitting hero for the winning aggregation was Jack Simpson, who drilled out three singles and drove home a total of four counters.

The same two clubs clash in the second game of the series tomorrow night, also to be held at the East Stroudsburg Junior High school field. The game is slated to begin promptly at 6.

Pittsburgh (AP)—Ralph Kiner's thirty-ninth home run plus two singles accounted for half of the Pittsburgh tallies yesterday as the Bucs beat the Philadelphia Phillies 3-6 in the final contest between the two clubs for the season.

Howie Pollet started for the Pirates but gave way to Vernon Law in the fourth inning when the Phillies scored four tallies. Law got credit for the win, his sixth against nine losses, although he needed help from Ted Wilks in the ninth. Andrew Hansen was charged with his first loss. He has two wins.

Big Names Blasted From National Amateur

By Will Grimsley

Bethlehem, (AP)—The champions of the United States and Britain—Sam Urzetta and Dick Chapman — and another member of the Walker Cup team were jettisoned from the National Amateur Golf tournament yesterday in an earthquake of upsets that left rank outsiders holding the whip hand.

When the long day's activities were ended in semi-darkness on the Saucon Valley Country club, only two members of America's vaunted international brigade were still left in the field of 16.

They were rope-thin Charles Coe of Oklahoma City, winner of this championship in 1949, and little, bespectacled Harold Paddock of Aurora, Ohio.

Tallies

Paddock had to sink a 41-foot putt on the twentieth hole to prevail over Dale Morey from Martinsville, Ind.

Defending champion Urzetta's brilliant golf game fell into sorry tatters on the last nine holes of his fourth round match and he went out a two and one victim of Joe Gagliardi, a 39-year-old lawyer of Mamaroneck, N. Y.

The Rochester, N. Y., titleholder, four up after nine holes, lost six of the last eight and five in a row in a miserable battle with sand, rough and jumping nerves.

More than an hour later, the 40-year-old Chapman, who won the British Amateur last spring at Birkdale, came trooping in, a dejected loser by two and one to L. M. Crannell, Jr., an unknown from Dallas.

Tall Jim McHale, of Philadelphia, a neighborhood favorite who had been picked by his Walker Cup mates to win this fifty-first title, bowed in the morning third round to Billy Joe Patton, a 29-year-old lumber man from Morganton, N. C. The margin was one up.

But Patton himself came out after lunch and fell into the debris that has marked this tournament in Pennsylvania's hilly steel region. He was ousted by Edward P. Martin of Winchester, Mass., 39-year-old champion of his state, two and one.

Two more 18-hole rounds today will reduce the field to four, and yesterday it was anybody's guess who would play in Saturday's final.

Yesterday's wholesale eliminations of the top amateur talent in the country assured the tournament of a surprise final round to be played here on the Saucon Valley course on Saturday. The championship round is scheduled to be played over a 36-hole route, with action listed for morning and afternoon.

The fifty-first National Amateur has run completely against form thus far in the tournament that got underway on Monday.

Chicago (AP)—Catcher Walker Cooper blasted his numbers 17 and 18 home runs to bat in five runs as the Boston Braves hung a 7-3 defeat on the Chicago Cubs before 3,633 persons yesterday.

Both of Cooper's clouts landed in the center field bleachers as the Braves rallied to score three runs in each the eighth and ninth innings and overcome a 3-1 deficit.

Advantage

The victory enabled Boston to split the two-game series, as Chicago closed out 1951 competition against the Braves with a 12-10 advantage.

Max Surkont checked the Cubs on four hits as he gained his eleventh victory against 13 losses. Lefty Joe Hatten, who pitched out of bases full-none out situations twice in the first and second innings, suffered his fifth defeat.

Young Bob Kelley replaced Hatten in the ninth after he was kayoed on successive doubles by Sam Jethroe and Earl Torgeson.

Clever Comedian Convulses Crowd

By Gayle Talbot

New York (AP)—The Yankees were dying, losing a full game in the American league standings to Cleveland, and a rubber-legged clown wearing a St. Louis Browns uniform was putting on one of the funniest acts you ever saw in your life in the first base coaching box.

He was funny, that is, to everybody in Yankee stadium except the Yankees, themselves, and possibly to some thousands of fans in the park who don't like their baseball mixed with the three-day. So here we go again and the question arises whether the unpredictable Bill Veeck has gone too far.

This was Tuesday night when the Bombers, fighting desperately to keep their noses in front of the Indians down the stretch, dropped those two damaging declisions to the last place Browns, who can afford to go in for laughs. This bystander, while not feeling deeply either way about Veeck's shenanigans, as a rule, has a feeling that he picked the wrong time and place for his latest brain wave.

As the man said about the abnormally ugly girl, she can't help being ugly but she could stay home. Bill should confine these pets of his to Sportsman's park, which he owns.

This comic of Bill's—and, mind you, he really is funny—suddenly appeared in the coaching box early in the second game of Tuesday's twin-night doubleheader. He appears to be double-jointed from top to bottom, and his pantomime is wonderful. The only thing is that his gyrations obviously have nothing to do with coaching.

At the time he made his appearance it still was a tight, tense ball game, something like 3-1 for the Browns. In a moment the crowd was roaring at the antics of Bill's latest acquisition. The Yankees must have felt his presence, too, for within the next few minutes they had two glaring errors on a single play and Browns were circling the bases like rabbits while their new "coach" did everything except tie himself into a bow knot.

The Yankees, to tell the truth, looked a little foolish as they strove to get the Browns under control, watching the game slip away from them while their tormentor poured it on and the crowd laughed. It would have been interesting to have read the mind of, say, Joe DiMaggio, at that juncture of his brilliant career.

Recalling the races of recent years that game might well have decided the American league pennant—and with a professional comic on the field. Doubtless the man was signed to a St. Louis contract, just as was the midget before him, but if the Yankees should miss that World Series sugar by a few percentage points they might feel like filing a power protest with President Will Harridge.

It is well known in baseball circles that Veeck has no admiration for George Weiss, able general manager of the Yankees, and that the feeling is reciprocal. We would say that this puts Bill at least one up on his somewhat austere rival, and we'll wager a stack of comic books he's laughing yet.

Only one thing seriously intrigues us. That is, what would have happened if that man with the number "40" on his back had shown up out there while the Yanks still were being general managed by a big fellow named Ed Barrow, the same who taught Babe Ruth party manners.

But, of course, it's an idle and foolish thought. Nobody has accused Veeck of being dumb.

Browns Purchase Goliat From Phils

St. Louis, (AP)—Mike Goliat, second baseman for the pennant-winning Philadelphia Phillies last year, was obtained from the National League club on waivers yesterday by the St. Louis Browns. He will report to the club in Boston.

Average

Goliat, 25, hit .234 for Philadelphia last season. He had 13 homers and drove in 64 runs.

A right-handed batter, he was a sensation in spring training this year but was benched early in the season and then was sent to Baltimore in the International League.

White Sox Roll Over Senators, 3-0

Washington (AP)—Billy Pierce scattered six Washington hits in pitching the Chicago White Sox to a 3-0 victory last night. The win was the left-hander's thirteenth and gave Chicago a 14-8 record over the Senators for the season.

Nelson Fox accounted for three of Chicago's nine hits off Sid Hudson. Fox sent the White Sox into a 1-0 lead in the first inning when he singled, went to third on Al Zarilla's single and scored after Orestes Minofo flied out.

Scoring

Successive infield hits by Pierce and Fox, plus Minofo's single, fetched the White Sox a run in the third inning. They scored their final run in the sixth when Ray Coleman singled and rookie Bob Boyd tripled.

Wyoming Favored To Show Class In Skyline Circuit

By Frank Pitman

Denver (AP)—Wyoming's Cowboys are strongly favored to romp to their third straight championship in the enlarged Skyline Conference this fall.

Montana and New Mexico have joined to make the Mountain States league an eight-team circuit. But neither the newcomers nor the old timers—Utah, Denver, Utah State, Brigham Young and Colorado A&M—appear potent enough to rope the cowboys.

Last One

The Cowpokes, beaten only once in their last 20 games, were ranked 12 nationally in the final Associated Press rating last season. They added gloss to their unbeaten 1950 record by whipping Washington and Lee 21-7 in the "Gator Bowl" at Jacksonville, Fla., last New Year's day.

Coach Bowden Wyatt, the former Tennessee star who in four years raised Wyoming from the depths to national prominence, isn't talking too much.

But it's significant that Wyoming elected to tackle Florida, a Southeastern power, in the Cowboy's season opener at Jacksonville, September 15.

Eddie Talboom, brilliant tailback, and the other three members of last season's starting backfield are missing. But Wyatt has 18 lettermen and four other players.

Veterans include End Dewey McConnell, Tackle Jim Martin, and Center Doug Reeves, 1950 All-Conference choices.

Harry Golden, a hard running 190-pounder from Wisconsin, is picked to fill Talboom's slot.

Wyoming's defensive platoon had the best statistical record in the nation last fall. One of top defensive men is Selmer Poderon, whom Wyatt calls the finest safety man in the country.

The rest of the Skyline teams will have to improve considerably to reach Wyoming's class. This was Wyoming's record against conference opponents in 1950: Colorado A&M 34-0; Utah State 40-7; Utah 53-13; New Mexico 44-0; Brigham Young 48-0 and Denver 42-12.

Utah and Montana, outclassed in the Pacific Coast Conference, may offer Wyoming its stiffest competition.

Coach Jack Curtice is enthusiastic about his Utah Redskins and reports he has the power to shift his flying-T offense into high gear. His aces are Jack Cross, 190-pound fullback from Twin Falls, Idaho; Tom Dubinski, 175-pound signal caller from Chicago and Carter Cowley, 180, another quarterback.

Zastrow To Lead Middies

By Whitney Shoemaker

Annapolis, Md., (AP)—Tell Coach Eddie Erdelatz that for a change Navy may be favored over Army's scandal-scoured football team, and he grumbles. Erdelatz takes the opportunity in every conversation to dread the possible boomerang from his team's 14-2 trimming of the Cadets last December.

Sports editors voted that feat the country's outstanding upset of 1950. Erdelatz insists it also has raised hopes too high for the midshipman's 1951 campaign.

Like everyone else here, Erdelatz has nothing but sincere regret for West Point and the cheating episode. Navy is sure the incident will make the remaining cadets a ferocious lot, determined to restore faith of Army fans.

Come December 1, when the academics clash at Philadelphia the Black Knights could be fired up as never before—if such a thing is possible for the always bitter Army-Navy game.

Look

"Look at the guys we've lost," Erdelatz groans. "Five ends . . . two first string tacklers . . . a pair of halfbacks and our safety man. To make it worse, we're weak at those positions in reserves and boys coming up from last year's 'Piebe' team."

Bob Zastrow, left quarterback, will pilot the backfield for the third straight season. Mike Sorrentino and Bob Cameron again will understudy Zastrow. Cameron also will punt.

A series of round tables discussed programs for October activities. The Cubbing section held a panel discussion on an October theme—Strong For America. Panel consisted of Victor Hoehne, cubmaster, Pack 24; Stanford Dennecker, neighborhood commissioner and Mrs. Elizabeth Kitson, den mother, Pack 29.

Boy Scouts panel dealt with a weekend at Camp Weygadt, covering Saturday and Sunday, September 22 and 23 for all Scouts and Senior Scouts. Fathers of Scouts will be guests with program in charge of Alpha Phi Omega, State Teachers College Scouting fraternity. Each troop will arrange its own transportation, food and equipment.
